Flying High, Staying Safe

The Rules of Safe Travel

At Allerton International Airport, we care about keeping you safe. That's why we have very strict safety regulations. Follow these simple rules and pay attention to all travel advisories to stay safe.

Unattended Luggage: Keep your luggage with you at all times. Do not leave your bags with strangers. Only trust your travel companions to watch your bags. Unattended luggage should be reported to a security guard.

Restricted Areas: All restricted areas are clearly marked. Do not enter any area that is cordoned off. There are security cameras all over the airport to keep you safe.

Security Checkpoints: There are several security checkpoints in the airport. You must pass through them before you can board a plane. Security guards inspect your baggage. Bargaining Tips for Travelers

The markets in Beijing are a shopper's paradise for bargain-hunters. There are hundreds of different shops there. And they sell beautiful items like porcelain and rugs. In Beijing, it's customary for shoppers to negotiate prices with store owners. But people from some places are not used to bargaining.

Here are some dos and don'ts for bargaining that will help you get a good deal:

Dos

- Decide on a good price for the item you want to buy
- Let the seller make an offer first
- Ask the owner to give you the item at half price
- Stay firm until you get a good price
- When you make a deal, pay right away.

Don'ts

- Try not to rush the bargaining process—be patient
- Don't wait for the seller to offer you a discount
- Don't forget your price limit
- Don't be afraid to walk away if the price isn't right

Listening

5 Listen to a conversation between a shop owner and a customer. Then answer the questions.

- 1 What is true according to the conversation?
A The vase is made of porcelain.
B The vase is broken.
C The woman prefers glass items.
D The woman pays half price for the vase.
- 2 What will the woman most likely do next?
A buy a vase at another store
B look for a glass vase
C pay for the vase
D ask for a discount

6 Listen again. Fill in the blanks.

Shop owner: Good afternoon, ma'am. Can I help you with anything?

Customer: Yes. I'm admiring this beautiful vase. Is it glass?

Shop owner: Actually, it's porcelain. 1 _____
_____ ... it breaks easily.

Customer: I'd love to 2 _____
_____. How much for this one?

Shop owner: Only six hundred yuan.

Customer: Oh, that's too much. I'll look somewhere else.

Shop owner: Wait! We can 3 _____
_____. How about five hundred yuan?

Customer: No thanks! Will you sell it for 4 _____?

Shop owner: Ma'am, this is already a low price. Four hundred-fifty yuan!

Customer: I'll give you four hundred yuan for it. That's my 5 _____.

Shop owner: All right, ma'am. It's yours.

Customer: Great. I'll pay 6 _____
Here you go.

Where to Find Help

Visitors to Sunrise City usually don't worry about crime or medical emergencies. Our beautiful city is one of the safest vacation destinations in the country. But when bad things happen, do you know what to do?

Medical emergencies: In case of an emergency, seek treatment at Charity Hospital. Most of the doctors there speak English. You are not seriously ill or injured? Then visit one of the clinics in town. Afterward, go to the pharmacy. The pharmacy can fill a prescription for medicine.

Crime: Victims of crime should file a police report. Do this at the police stations around Sunrise City. Or dial 911, the emergency number.

Legal: Travelers with legal trouble should go to their country's embassy. The representatives there provide advice. The embassy also gives help for travelers who lose their passports. Visit our website for a complete list of different embassies and their addresses.

Safety First

Air travel is one of the safest ways to get around. However, occasionally, emergencies occur onboard. Knowing what to do in case of an emergency could save your life. Follow these tips in case of an emergency:

- Turbulence - Turbulence is common in every flight. In cases of severe turbulence, stay in your seat and keep your seatbelt fastened.
- Drop in Cabin Pressure - Aircraft cabins have oxygen. Decompression happens when the oxygen levels in the cabin drop to dangerous levels. When decompression occurs, oxygen masks automatically drop from compartments above your seat. Use the straps on the mask to attach the mask to your face and inhale.
- Emergency Landing - On rare occasions, airplanes have to make emergency landings. During an emergency landing over land, listen carefully to the flight crew's instructions. They will direct you to the nearest exit row. Then, you can leave the plane by going down an emergency slide. For an emergency landing over water, use your seat cushion as a flotation device.

PLANET TRAVEL'S EMPLOYEE MANUAL

How to Take a Message

It's a busy day at Planet Travel. Telephones are ringing off the hook and the travel agency is understaffed. All of the clients want to speak to your boss, but she's out to lunch. What do you do when a caller asks to speak to someone who is away from their desks or unavailable? Take a message!

First, you need to ask the caller what the call is regarding. At this point, the caller will tell you why he or she is calling. Listen carefully and write down everything on a message pad. But what if you don't hear something the caller says? Apologize and ask him or her to repeat the information. You can also ask the caller to spell out important information. You don't want to give the wrong message to your boss! Next, ask the caller for his or her contact information. The contact information is the caller's telephone number. You're almost done! Finally, thank the caller for contacting Planet Travel and let him or her know that you will give the message to the right person right away. Then hang up the telephone.

Congratulations! You took your first message as a Planet Travel employee!

When It's NOT Your Fault

What to do when an airline makes a mistake

Everyone makes mistakes, even airlines. When they do, work with the airline to find a resolution that benefits you.

Overbooking - Airlines often overbook flights. This helps them make sure that flights are full. Usually, some passengers cancel before the flight. But sometimes there are more passengers with tickets than there are seats. When this happens, you may get bumped off the flight. What should you do? Get in contact with a ticket agent. He or she may put you on standby for the next flight. If this is the case, it doesn't hurt to ask if you can get a free upgrade. Or you can find out if a partner airline will accept your ticket.

Delays - Like overbooking, flight delays are usually beyond your control. If a delay causes you to miss a connecting flight, you should ask the airline to put you on a later flight. Sometimes, passengers have to stay overnight in airports due to flight delays. In this situation, ask a representative of the airline for a complimentary stay in a hotel. If the airline cancels your trip, make sure to ask the airline for compensation. They may give you a travel voucher for future travel.

To All Hermes Airways Employees:

We have had a series of incidents at the airport involving dissatisfied customers. In the most recent incident, a customer refused to wait in a queue and had to be escorted off the premises for creating a disturbance. Do you know how to deal with these types of situations? Take a moment to review our company's policy regarding difficult customers.

It is not uncommon for a customer to lose his or her temper. Do not yell at an angry customer or use abusive language! Instead, speak to the customer in a calm and polite voice. Assure the customer that the airline staff is doing its best to serve him or her.

Another common problem are customers who smoke on a flight. Smoking is prohibited on all flights for health and safety reasons. What do you do if a customer is smoking on a flight? Politely ask the customer to put out his or her cigarette. And remind the passenger that smoking on a flight is against the law.

Sometimes, a problem with a customer cannot be resolved no matter what you do. If a customer refuses to cooperate, contact the airport police. They can escort an uncooperative customer off the premises.

TRAVEL WORLD - VOL 23 - ISSUE 6

Did your guests enjoy their stay?

The Importance of Goodbye in Creating Positive Hotel Stays

Your goal as a host is to create a great experience for guests. This begins when the guest checks in until the moment you say good-bye. Try using these goodbyes the next time a guest checks out of your hotel.

"See you later," is a popular phrase used in everyday speech. But it is very informal, so never use it when dealing with guests.

On the other hand, the phrase "farewell" is a formal way of saying goodbye. However, it sounds impersonal to some people, so be careful when using it. Instead, try saying "It's been our pleasure to have you". These are formal ways of saying goodbye and are appropriate when dealing with older guests.

To see off your guest in a more casual way, try saying "I hope you had a great time" or "I hope you had a wonderful stay." You can also say "Come visit us again" and "Please return soon". They are friendly and show how much you value a customer's patronage.

Remember, it's up to you to decide which goodbye to use. Good luck!

GET THE JOB YOU WANT!

10 Professionals Monthly - MARCH

You've submitted your application and you received a call back. Now the only thing standing between you and your dream job is the interview. Follow these tips when you go on your next interview:

Research - Before you go to the interview, research the company. Find out what paperwork, such as official transcripts or references, you may need to bring to the interview. Also, talk to a current employee at the company. Ask about what it's like to work there. What does he or she like and dislike about the job?

Dress the Part - A job interview is a great opportunity to make a good first impression. Do this by dressing professionally on the day of the interview.

During the Interview - Businesses typically look for confident and enthusiastic employees. Show your confidence by speaking about your strengths as a worker. Also, make sure to ask plenty of questions based on your research. This shows that you are very interested in the company and the job. But remember—don't ask an interviewer about salary or benefits. This is only appropriate after a job offer is made.

After the Interview - Once the interview is over, follow up with a thank you note. This is a small gesture that shows that you are polite and professional.
